Town Meeting Tickets.

We hold ourselves in readiness to print Town Meeting Tickets, on the shortest notice, any day or evening previous to election day.

Bishop Jessie T. Peck, D. D.

Will preach in the M. E. Church, in this place, next Sunday, May 2nd, morning and evening. Providentially the new bell will begin its work on that day, which we deem a fortunate concurrence of events.

LECTURE.

Bishop Peck will also lecture in the M. E. Church, on Monday evening, the 3rd. Subject, "Science and the Spirit World." The public are cordially invited to attend. Admission Free. This lecture was recently given at Pulaski, regarding which we quote the following notes from the pen of one competent to judge:

"Monday eve., the Bishop delivered a most powerful address in our Church, on the subject of "Science and the Spirit World," in behalf of the Young Men's Christian Association recently formed in our village. It was listened to with most marked attention by an appreciative audience, was truly grand and glorious, full of Science and God—not one of those cold intellectual productions with no soul or view of piety about it. It was declared by all present to be the best and most masterly address ever delivered in Pulaski."

POSTPONED.—The Preparatory Lecture of the Presbyterian church in this village, which was to take place to-morrow (Friday), has been postponed.

THE SINGING SCHOOL—In South Mexico, under the instruction of Mr. Y. Wilcox, held open session on Thursday evening last, and were joined by Airon Glen Club of this village. A large number were present, and the singing is said to have been very fine. Mr. Wilcox is having excellent success in his school.

SCHOOL MONEY.—The Superintendent of Public Instruction has issued his circular apportioning school money for the year ending Sept. 30, 1873, to the county of Oswego. It is as follows:

FRUITS OF A REVIVAL.—We are glad to learn that sixty-seven persons have united with Rev. Avery S. Walker's church, in Gloversville, as the first fruits of a revival which began in December, and is still in progress. A remarkable feature of this revival has been the maturity of the converts, forty-eight of the above number being heads of families. Mr. Walker, who is well known to many of our readers as the son of Mr. Hiram Walker, of Union Square, is proving himself a workman that needeth not to be ashamed.

THE GREATEST STORM OF THE SEASON—began on Friday and continued, with but little cessation, until Tuesday morning. The wind blew strong from the southwest, driving the falling snow and heaving it in the roads in a most inconvenient manner. Some of the drifts are very high. One on the railroad, west of the depot, is said to be from 10 to 12 feet deep and 40 rods long. Trains were stopped two or three days, and the snow plow got off the track. Daily papers couldn't be had, and even gossips staid at home. The hurry and bustle of business ceased for a while, and men devoted themselves to contemplation.

COUNTY LODGE—The regular quarterly session of Oswego County Lodge was held in Constantia, Feb. 18th and 19th. The session was an unusually interesting one and the cause of tempest in this county is certainly moving toward. The new lodge in Oswego town already reports the strongest membership of any in the county and is still growing. The public meeting was held on Tuesday evening. Rev. L. Golden of Sandy Creek, made the address, which was one of the best to which we ever listened. A. A. Hopkins followed with some remarks. After the public meeting sixteen names were obtained of persons desirous of uniting with the order, of whom ten were initiated the same evening. The next session will be held at Sandy Creek, May 20th and 21st, 1873.

H. A. Jones, County Secretary.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT—IN PALERMO.—Some two weeks ago, while Uriah Johnson was assisting in loading a large log on some sleighs, something gave way and caught his leg between a tree and the log, breaking it in two places, and bruising it in a serious manner. For a few days it was feared that his leg would have to come off, but it is now doing as well as could be expected. He is attended by his brother (Dr. Johnson, of this village), and Dr. Rice, of Phoenix.

PERSONALS ON THE LOOMIS FAMILY.—The following is from the Pulaski Democrat:

Hiram Denio Loomis, the escaped prisoner, is rather above the medium height, red whiskers, and a countenance perfectly under its owners control. Guilty or not guilty, in danger or out, his face tells nothing. He is one of those men who are said to "understand their own business."

"Bill" Loomis is almost dwarfish, gray hair and beard, long, uncut, and uncombed; walks as though troubled with the rheumatism. He has a smooth tongue, a sharp eye, and quick ear. The tongue is guarded and discreet, the eye takes in the "situation at a glance, and the ear overhears more than is supposed. When a brother escapes the law, however, he can scarce conceal his triumphant joy. Martha, Bill's wife, has a fat smooth face, and we believe, when bailing one of her friends, that she is worth $40,000. She weighs, perhaps two hundred pounds, and we should think could handle her husband easily if it came to fistfights.

YOUTH'S COLUMN.

"A Grateful Cat."

A cat in a Swiss cottage had taken poison, and came in a pitiful state of pain to seek its mistress' help. The fever and heat were so great that it dipped its own paws into a pan of water, an almost unheard-of proceeding in a water-hating cat. She wrapped it in wet linen, fed it with gruel, nursed it and doctored it all the day and night after. It recovered, and could not find ways enough to show its gratitude. One evening she had gone up stairs to bed, when a mew at the window roused her. She got up and opened it, and found the cat, which had climbed a pear tree, maled to the house, with a mouse in its mouth. This it laid as an offering to its mistress' feet and went away. For above a year it continued to bring these tributes to her. Even when it had kittens they were not allowed to touch this recovered share, and if they attempted to eat it the mother gave them a little tap, "That is not for thee." After while, however, the mistress accepted the gift, thanked the giver with a pleased look, and restored the mouse, when the cat permitted her children to take the prey, which had served its purpose in her eyes. Here was a refined feeling of gratitude remembered for months after, quite disinterested and placed above the natural instincts (always strong in a cat) toward her own offspring. —Good Words.

A Boy's Letter to his Sister.

DEAR SUE:—The horses is all got the epigastic badly. Us boys had so much fun the other day! Little Frank's hobby horse had glue running out of his nose, so we knew he had it, and we took him into the bath-room and got some of ma's fine towels, and wrapped his legs up in hot water and burned sulphur matches under his throat, and swinged his mane off, and the paint came off his legs, and the glue all came off, stuck, and Frank can't ride him any more. Wasn't it jolly? Then the matches put us in mind of having a Boston fire, so we coaxed sister Sadie to give us her box of Swiss houses you brought her from Urip; and we set 'em up and touched 'em off and let her burn. The town went like blazes, and we threw some of sis's dolls in for dead bodies, and then saved the arms and legs for troys.

But you bet we got scared when the flames went so high, so we turned on the hose, and that fool, Jim Blain, let the water run all over the floor and down the kitchen on to the cook's head, and she thought the pipes had busted, and run for a man to fix 'em; so ma caught us in there, and the boys run home, but I got a thrashing. It didn't hurt much, 'cause I had on thick clothes. Our Frank is in pants. He went in last Sunday. I've got a new girl. I don't like Jenny Bird any more, or I guess she don't like me any more, 'cause when I give her a handful of peanuts she threw 'em in my face, and I expect Jim Lane told lies about me. I'd whip him, only his father keeps a candy store, and I get all the candy I want for nothing.

Your affectionate brother,
CHARLES.

An Unselfish Sailor-Boy.

A little sailor-boy named Ned once took with him on shipboard a kitten for a pet. Sailors are very fond of having such little pets that remind them of home, and of the dear ones there. So Ned had no difficulty in making friends for his kitty. But in the course of the voyage a fearful storm overtook them. The ship sprung a leak, and was likely soon to go down. A boat was lowered into the foaming sea, and little Ned was about to step into it, when he thought of his kitten. There was no selfishness about him, and he could not think of leaving him to go down in that terrible storm. So he rushed into the forecastle to find him; when he came back the boat was gone. Pretty soon another boat was lowered, and into this went little Ned and his kitten. Now it happened so that out of the several boats which left the ship this was the only one that was saved. The one in which he first intended to go, and in which he would have gone if he had not cared for his kitten, was lost, and all on board of it perished. —Sunday School World.

"A Little Child Shall Lead Them."

An esteemed clergyman writes thus: Very recently, a little boy in my parish, only six years of age, was sent by his mother to fetch his father from the public-house.

He found his parent drinking with some other men; one of them invited the little fellow to take some beer. Firmly, and at once, the boy replied:

"No, I can't take that; I'm in the Band of Hope."

The man looked at one another, but no one was found to repeat the temptation.

The man then said:

"Well, if you won't take the beer, here's a penny for you to buy some bulb's-eyes"—a kind of sugar confectionery.

The boy took the penny, and said:

"I thank you, but I had rather not have bulb's-eyes; I shall put it into the penny bank."

The men looked at one another, and for some moments were entirely silent.

At length one of them rose and gave utterance to his feelings in these words:

"Well, I think the sooner we sign the pledge, and put our savings in the penny bank, the better."

The men immediately left the house.

Such was the effect of the two wise speeches of a little boy only six years old. How many old people have made much longer but less effective speeches!

"A little child shall lead them." —

A sailor the other day, in describing his first effort to become nautical, said that just at the close of a dark night he was sent aloft to see if he could see a light. As he was no great favorite of the lieutenant, he was not hailed for some time. Of course when he was, he answered, "Ay, ay, sir." "Do you see a light?" "Yes, sir." "What light?" "Daylight, by jingo!"

The story of a lazy schoolboy, who spelled Andrew Jackson "Jru Jaxn," has been equalled by student who wished to mark half a dozen new shirts. He marked the first "John Jones," and the rest "do."
